NOON DISPATCHES.

Washington News—Finances and Other Matters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—Since the positive policy of the Government has been announced that nothing more could be done for the relief of finances, no one seemed disposed to pay for dispatches of advice to the Secretary of the Treasury.

A competitive examination for receivers of crippled national banks is in progress. The Government drafts on Clews, Hahnel & Co., will be honored by Cooke, McCulloch & Co. Beyond this no change has been made in the London Government agency. Bull's Bank is in the hands of a receiver.

Two thousand depositors deposits aggregate three quarters of a million. This is the Washington City Savings Bank.

Many employees of factories interested in railroad utensils have been discharged and others have struck on account of wages and hours.

HAMILTON, ONT., Sept. 27.—Bishop Farel is dead.

The Financial Situation.

BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 27.—The State Bank has suspended indefinitely. The Directors, upon examination, find it impossible to go on. The police are after the cashier and bank keeper. The defalcation amounts to over a half million.

New York, Sept. 27.—The San learns that the Government invested yesterday in exchange on London one and a half million for the Navy Department, and seven hundred thousand for the State departments. Private bankers have deposited in the Bank of England for exchange. Imports this week amount to eleven million.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—Nearly all Northern and Western cities have adopted the Conservative banking measures. Voluminous dispatches have been received here. The following is the most frank and significant:

"MILWAUKEE, Sept. 27.—The report that banks here have suspended payment of sums larger than two hundred dollars is a mistake. No such action has been taken. The banks are doing business as usual, except that they have stopped advances on produce until Eastern banks are ready to respond."

Marine News.

HALIFAX, Sept. 27.—The Steward of the John Livingston, of New Orleans, was swept from the deck during a hurricane. The crew of the brigantine Hurd were 17 days exposed. Michael McMahon died from exposure.

Ravages of Yellow Jack.

Defalcation of the Pittsburg Postmaster.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 27.—Col. John H. Stewart, Postmaster, is charged with defalcation. He is under a bail bond of $50,000.

Surrender of Spanish Vessels.

MADRID, Sept. 27.—Admiral Yelverton has surrendered the insurgent vessels seized by him, to the Spanish Government.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Financial Matters Getting Easy—the Feeling Decidedly Improved in New York—Stock Exchange to be Opened Next Tuesday—Stocks Advancing—Better Feeling in Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Other Points—Suspensions in Louisville and Knoxville—News from other Points, etc.

New York, Sept. 27.—In answer to the suggestions of the Stock Exchange committee, the banking committee seems to look exclusively to the convenience and safety of the Stock Exchange, without comprehending dangers and inconvenience involved to the banks.

The President of the Stock Exchange has issued the following notice: "The New York Stock Exchange will open for business on Tuesday next at the regular hour. The details of business will be arranged on Monday morning at a regular meeting of the Government Committee."

The Clearing House Committee, at a meeting to-day, resolved to issue loan certificates to an unlimited amount.

The Bank statement will not be ready to-day.

The Clearing House Committee decided hereafter not to make public the amount of loan certificates issued.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 27.—Considerable excitement prevailed to-day, caused by the suspension at an early hour of the following banks: The German Bank, the Commercial and Western Bank, the Central Savings Bank, the Louisville Banking Company. The business generally is quiet. Prices nominal for all leading articles. There was no run at the close of Banking hours, upon any other banks.

CINCINNATI.—There was little doing in the general markets to-day. There was a shade better feeling, a change which was more manifest at the close.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Sept. 27.—The Exchange, Commercial and Knoxville banks have suspended.

Augusta, Sept. 27.—A better feeling to-day, but the situation continues unchanged. Nothing doing in the cotton market for want of currency, some few bales of middlings were offered at 15 cents. It is believed that the suspended banks will be able to resume currency payments early next week.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Sixteenth Sunday after Trinity.

The revival at the Methodist Church continues with unabated interest.

From and after this date the City Postoffice will close at 6 30 p. m., till further orders.

The "Spinning Jenny" man has removed the boys headquarters to the Old Baptist Grove.

Carriages, phaetons and buggies are advertised by Messrs. Williamson, Upchurch & Thomas. See notice elsewhere.

The streets will be lighted up as soon as the Chief of Police can get his machinery in order—by the 1st of October at the latest.

If the Commissioners will not build a new Courthouse they should by all means have the lower floors paved with the Schillinger stone.

The financial panic has seriously interfered with the Revenue Collectors—only $3,791.93 were collected for the week ending yesterday morning.

We are under obligations to Maj. Blair, of the National Hotel, for some excellent oysters sent us last night. His tables are now supplied with this delicacy.

We hear it intimated that Judge Watts, in his charge to the Grand Jury of Wake on Monday, October 6th, will review the financial situation and give his views on the best means of averting disaster.

Misses Jenkins and Edkins have discontinued their concerts on account of the death of Col. McAfee. Two hundred and fifteen dollars were cleared by the concerts at Greensboro, Salisbury, Charlotte, Newton, Statesville, Morganton and Asheville. This, with the sums realized in Raleigh and Fayetteville, and already reported make a total of $458.69.

A reliable rumor reaches us that as the criminal docket will consume all the time of Wake court, His Honor will not, during the present monetary panic, call over the civil docket to permit judgments on plain actions of debt.

REMOVAL.—Messrs. Williamson, Upchurch & Thomas have removed from their old stand on Martin street to their spacious and elegant establishment on Fayetteville street. See their advertisement in another column.

PERSONAL.—We were pleased to see at the Yarbrough House yesterday, Miss Carrie Jenkins who has just returned from a tour of the West, where she has been giving Musical Concerts in company with Miss Minnie Edkins, for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. She is looking unusually well.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—Rev. Daniel McGilvary, a native of this State, and for fourteen years a Missionary in the Kingdom of Siam, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church this morning, and will tell of the condition of Siam, its manners, customs, etc. Mr. McGilvary will also preach in the same Church in the evening.

BEG PARDON.—We beg pardon for the mistake which we made in reference to the annual address at the Fair of the Carolinas. Gen. Wade Hampton delivers the address and not Mr. Adams, of Washington, D. C., as we stated. Mr. A. has been invited to speak on the occasion and will, if he accepts the invitation, speak on matters concerning Granges. We hope our Charlotte friends, and everybody else will pardon the error.

ZO. LEMAY.—We have had occasion, since our editorial career, to mention the name of our friend, Zo. Lemay, Esq., of Johnston county, at least a dozen times, and not in a single instance has the compositor ever got his name right. Yesterday the proof read Z. Lemay. It was properly corrected, but still it came out in the paper Z. Lemay. We shall follow this to the press, and if wrong in this case will shoulder the blame.

THE MECKLENBURG DECLARATION.—In July last, learning that Major C. Dowd of Charlotte, would reply to the articles of D. R. Goodloe, Esq., with reference to the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, Mr. J. B. Gales, of this city, addressed him the following letter: As it presents in a concise manner, the way in which the discussion of this subject originated, it has been sent with the consent of the writer, for publication:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Raleigh, July 15th, 1873.

MAJ. C. DOWD, Charlotte:

Dear Sir:—It is understood here that you or some other gentleman at Charlotte will reply to the articles of D. R. Goodloe, Esq., with reference to the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence; indeed the Charlotte Democrat is now before me containing No. 1 of the "defence of the 20th May Declaration."

Feeling that every North Carolinian should take a just pride in the fact that ours was the first State to declare its independence of Great Britain, and being fully convinced that said Declaration was made at Charlotte on the 20th May 1775, I proceed without further apology to give you such facts as have come into my possession bearing on the subject.

I have in my possession the files of the Raleigh Register of 1819, 1820, 1821, and in the issue of that paper of April 30, 1819, the Declaration is published in full. The editor (Jos. Gales) prefaces the Declaration with these words:

It is not probably known to many of our readers that the first Declaration of Independence of the State of Mecklenburg county, in this State, made a Declaration of Independence more than a year before Congress made theirs. The following document on the subject has lately come to the hands of the editor from an old and reliable authority, and is published as it may go down to posterity.

The Essex Register of July 24, 1871, copied the Declaration from the Raleigh Register, and expressed some doubts as to the genuineness of the resolutions, and hoped the Raleigh Register would give such facts as its editor had of their true character.

Mr. Gales replied (Aug. 6, 1819) that he was ready to give all the information in his power and adds: "I feel confident after we shall have done so, no longer doubt will remain as to the truth and reality of the proceedings in question." Mr. Gales then proceeds as follows:

It appears this Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence was made during last winter (1818) been the subject of conversation at Washington, among members of Congress, and that in order to put the matter out of dispute, one of our Senators (Hon. Nathaniel Macon) and the Representative (Hon. Wm. Davison) in Congress wrote to gentlemen in that part of the country, most likely to give it, for information in relation to this matter."

Mr. Macon wrote to Gen. Jos. Graham, of Lincoln county, and (Gen. Graham) referred the letter to Wm. R. Alexander, of Alexandria, Mecklenburg county, with a request that Mr. A. would furnish, from his father's old papers, everything bearing on the subject. Mr. Alexander replied to Mr. Macon's letter, February 7, 1819, and enclosed the following extract in his letter:

"Nearly all my father's papers were burned in the Spring of 1800, which destroyed the papers now wanted, as I believe he acted as Secretary to the committee, that declared its independence for this county in 1775."

Mr. Gales continues in these words: "The Declaration and resolutions published were received by Mr. Davison from J. McKnitt, (brother of Mr. Alexander, the writer of the above letters), accompanied with the following certificate: The foregoing is a true copy of the papers on the above subject left in the hands of John McKnitt Alexander, deceased. I find it mentioned on file that the original book was burned in April, 1800, that a copy of the proceedings was sent to Hugh Williamson, in New York, then writing the history of North Carolina, and that a copy was sent to General W. R. Davie."

Mr. Gales concludes as follows: "All the papers thus certified were sent to me for publication by the Senator, Nathaniel Macon, who had collected the information. We trust therefore, that the most skeptical will no longer entertain a doubt of the authenticity of this Declaration of Independence of Mecklenburg county. If further evidence of these facts were wanting, it is believed the testimony of one of the most respectable inhabitants of this city who was present when the Declaration was resolved upon, might be adduced."

Mr. Gales doubtless alluded to Col. Wm. Polk, then of Raleigh.

In the Register of August 13, 1819, Mr. Gales says: "The public will doubtless be gratified to learn that Col. Wm. Polk, of this city, who was present at the meeting Mecklenburg county when the Declaration of Independence was agreed upon in May, 1775, is preparing for publication some further information in relation to that Declaration. We understand that the Colonel will give the names of the delegates, and an account of the proceedings of the Committee subsequently until a regular government was established; and correct some misstatements in the publication already made on the subject in the Register, of the 20th April, 1873, which has been the subject of remark in the Northern papers."

In the Register of February 18th, 1820, Col. Polk publishes the certificate of George Graham aged 61 near 62; Wm. Hutchinson aged 68; Jonas Clark aged 62 and Robert Robinson aged 68, and a letter from John S. Simerson, Sr., dated Providence, Jan. 20, 1820.

Messrs. Graham, Hutchinson, Clarke and Robinson declare in their certificate that they were present in the town of Charlotte, on the 19th day of May, 1775; that the delegation was complete on that day—the meeting being organized about 12 o'clock on that day "when Abraham Alexander was chosen chairman and Dr. Ephraim Bevard, secretary. That the delegates continued in session until the night of that day; that on the 20th they again met when a committee under the direction of the delegates had formed several resolves which were read and which went to declare themselves and the people of Mecklenburg county free and independent of the King of Great Britain."

In the Register, of May 28th, 1820, appear a letter from Rev. Francis Cummins, a Presbyterian clergyman, to Senator Macon, testifying that he was present at the time of the Declaration, and the certificate of Capt. James Jack that he was not only present at the time but took the Declaration to Philadelphia, &c.

Nathaniel Macon, himself a Revolutionary soldier, satisfied himself beyond a doubt that the Declaration was made on the 20th of May, and he furnished that Declaration for publication in the Raleigh Register.

Col. Wm. Polk, Graham, Hutchinson, Clarke and Robinson were present, and certified to what transpired on that occasion.

Joseph Gales, the leading editor of the State, was thoroughly satisfied in regard to the authenticity of the document.

These gentlemen lived at a time when they could communicate with those who took part in the Mecklenburg Convention.

Shall we believe these or Mr. Goodloe, who was born after the day of the actors in that Convention had died.

THE CITY COMMISSIONERS.—An adjourned meeting of the City Commissioners was held in the Mayor's office on Friday night. Discussions on matters of no general interest continued till after 11 o'clock and but little business of special importance was transacted.

Mr. K. P. Battle called the attention of the Board to the evil practice of citizens sinking pits to the depth of the water level, and deposit refuse from garden-houses, &c., and quoted from several scientific authors to show that the health of a whole neighborhood could be affected by the use of water in the vicinity of such a deposit.

After the able argument of Mr. Battle, the Board very properly passed an ordinance requiring all sinks in the city to be filled up to a distance of not more than fifteen feet from the surface, and the same to be walled and cemented, and that hereafter all pits are to be constructed in accordance with this ordinance.

An ordinance was adopted requiring wood and coal purchasers to remove the same when thrown out on Fayetteville street within thirty-six hours from the time it is thrown out.

The light of question was thoroughly discussed and sufficiently ventilated. Commissioner Ellison was in favor of lighting half the city but was unwilling to go the whole hog.

Commissioner Gorman was not in favor of discriminating, and advocated the immediate lighting up of the whole city.

An Ordinance was finally adopted requiring the Chief of Police to have erected at two suitable points in the city Gas Meters, and to light the streets at night.

It has been proposed that a given sum for gas by the post, and the Commissioners believe that the bill will be less by paying the regular price by the thousand feet—hence the order for the erection of Meters.

The proposition to pave the Market with the Schillinger stone was not considered, as the Commissioners were unwilling to incur the expense, &c.

A number of bills reported by the Auditing Committee, after being closely scrutinized by the Board, and many remarks made thereon, passed, and checks for their payment ordered.

THE MISS POWELL ABDUCTION CASE.—The Workingman's Mechanical Journal in its last issue says: "The attempt by the alleged mother some weeks ago to recover her child has been the subject of much comment in some of the city papers; and we regret to say the discussion has not been free of a disposition to prejudice those that were concerned."

The News was the first paper to ventilate this high handed outrage, the Era (weekly) endorsed the News article, and expressed the same views in regard to this outrage. These being the only city papers that discussed the matter, we take a large share of the reference to the city press on our shoulders.

Our discussion showed no disposition to prejudice the case. The first article that appeared in the News was the statement made by the young lady herself and corroborated by Mr. and Mrs. Adams. The second article was based upon a corroboration of the statements above by some of the most respectable gentlemen of North Carolina, citizens of Cumberland county, whose evidence will be heard with telling effect before the investigation, and in our opinion will fully sustain the good character and reputation of Miss Powell.

But, if denouncing the infamous and wicked outrage, perpetrated by a city policeman in arresting Miss Powell at the house of a gentleman of well known respectability, where she was residing as a member of the family, and forcing her against her will into a house of notorious ill-repute, is regarded by the Journal as prejudging the case, then we plead guilty to the charge.

In regard to the matter of identity, we have clamored from the first for an investigation, and while there is not the slightest doubt in our mind that Miss Powell will fully establish her pure Anglo-Saxon blood, yet this is a small matter compared with the circumstances of her shameful and unlawful arrest. This was the subject discussed by the News.

STATE FAIR ITEMS.—A North Carolina Sewing Machine invented by Jno. G. Moore, of Company Shops, has been entered for the fair and will be on exhibition.

The "Victor" Sewing Machine (a new one altogether) has been entered for exhibition by the Rev. Mr. Bodenheimer, of Concord, N. C.

J. R. Keen, of Thomasville, owns the celebrated Thomasville dining and sitting room chairs.

W. W. Woolford, Superintendent of the American Fruit Preserving Company, of Ridgeway, enters for premiums a large number of dried fruits and vegetables.

T. B. Hyman, of Goldsboro, will enter a Cockade Cotton and Hay Press.

SYME'S ADVENTURE WITH THE "SPINNING JENNY."—Syme has had a free ride on the "Spinning Jenny." He was accompanied to the tent of the revolving horses by Dr. Black-nall, who introduced him as a representative of the News. The "Spinning" man received him with a winning smile, (he thought it was) and very politely offered him the privileges of his show. "Have a ride," insisted the man of the revolving quads. Syme, of course, couldn't refuse a free ride, or anything else; he don't know how; and at once made his preparations for a "swing round the circle." The "Spinning" man looked somewhat surprised as Syme drew off his last shoe—but he didn't know him. Syme never does anything like anybody else—but he was making for a foothold in the event of a mishap; next came his coat, then his hat. Everything being in readiness, he mounted his wooden "critter" and was soon whirling around at break-neck speed. We were in blissful ignorance of what was going on, but a series of shouts from the tent, told us something unusual was on the tapis, and we hurried over to see it.

It was rather too dark to distinguish the different riders at first sight, but we smelt Syme—Oh, he was awful hot. Soon we glimpsed him, and never before did we see him in such a plight; his naked feet, circling the breast of his steed, his hands clutching in the artificial mane, and his bald head bobbing up and down like a fisherman's cork under a mill dam—he looked awful. We left him in his glory, and did not see him till yesterday morning when he came in the office with a strange coat on, a patched hat, a worn out pair of No. 11 brogans, and the worse for wear, generally. He is now much improved, but grieving over the loss of his garments. The shoes he has no use for, and the owner can get them by calling at the waste paper room of this office.

OUR CHURCHES TO-DAY.—Divine services will be held at the following Churches to-day, (Sunday.) Strangers and others in the city are earnestly and cordially invited to attend. Gentlemen ushers will be present to conduct visitors to pews which are always free.

Edenton Street Methodist Church, Edenton street, Rev. A. W. Mamm, officiating. Services at 11 o'clock a. m. and 7 30 o'clock p. m.

The Pastors of the different churches will please notify us on Saturdays of any changes that may occur in their pulpits.

COMMENDABLE LIBERALITY.—The name of George J. Lobdell, Esq., of Wilmington, Delaware, is getting to be almost a household word in North Carolina. Our readers will remember his name in connection with Col. J. M. Heck, who together have done more for the development of the mineral resources of our State than any two men in it. It is Geo. J. Lobdell that is now spending half a million of dollars for the development of the Chatham Iron Mines, near Lockville. He is the man that came forward and bought the States interest in the Cape Fear and Deep River Navigation Company, giving a bond for the completion of the work, after the State had expended $750,000, and then gave it up at a job, taking upon the State too much expense to complete it.

He is the man that says in a letter to Captain Fulghum, Secretary of the State Agricultural Society: "I have received your circular, &c. I will present your Society's Dutch or Belted bull and a cow of the same breed, and if my colts are in proper order, a Dexter stud colt. I think your farmers will be pleased with the belted cattle; they are black with white rings around their eyes, and I think just the cow for North Carolina. Your Society has my best wishes, and will always have my hearty co-operation."

THE DAILY NEWS.

JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.
SAM'L T. WILLIAMS, Political Editor.
SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1873.

The People's Bank at Petersburg at last accounts was O. K.

The people of the South have a mine of wealth in their cotton crop. They should hold it if possible, for it is even better than legal tender notes.

A query for these panicky times: When the printers make a "run" on the Editor for copy, should he follow the examples of the banks and suspend?

COTTON is as good as gold. The people of the South should not be too great a hurry to sacrifice their present crop at the present price. Wait until the crisis is over—if possible.

If the Wilmington Post undertakes to defend the trials in the Federal Court for the District of North Carolina, it will have its hands full. It will be difficult for that paper to "justify" its BOND for good behavior.

THE Battleboro Advance adheres to the opinion that the cotton crop of that section has been cut short about one third. This is attributed to the heavy rains. The Advance is sustained in this opinion by one of the best farmers in its neighborhood.

THE Wilmington Post has a very "lame and impotent" article in reply to our argument on the trials in the Federal Court.

We are astonished that a paper of the Post's respectability can see a great wrong committed against the right of trial by jury, and not join with us in condemning the outrage.

THE Petersburg Index-Appel will notice that in the article quoted from us in regard to the condition of the Raleigh banks, it was a typus typi that made us say the blow which had fallen so suddenly on Raleigh. We meant to say Petersburg. Raleigh has had no blow as yet, and we feel confident now our city will escape the calamity altogether.

A CORRESPONDENT of Our Living and Our Dead says that Dr. PETER E. HINES, formerly of Newbern, now of this city, deserves to be remembered as establishing the first Confederate Hospital in Virginia. Dr. HINES was appointed Surgeon of the 1st Regiment of North Carolina Volunteers at its organization, and was subsequently made Surgeon of the post at Yorktown, in 1861.

THE Battleboro Advance will be moved to Wilmington soon. Referring to this step, the last issue of that paper says:

"We will part with the good people of Battleboro with deep regret. Nothing but an imperative sense of duty could ever induce us to sever our connection with a community, who have sustained us with such a liberal hand and whose kindness will ever constitute the greenest spot in our memory. Their success will always be hailed by us with pleasure and we can conceive of no event, no matter where our lot may be cast, that we could record with more pride and satisfaction than their continued prosperity."

We learn from the Petersburg Index-Appel that the Planters and Mechanics Bank and the Citizens Bank of that city, will probably resume operations in a few weeks. The National Bank, consisting of the Merchants' National and First National Banks has gone with them. The Commercial Bank and Petersburg Savings' and Insurance Company and the banking house of Messrs. Hinton & Dunn have been able to withstand the pressure and are transacting business. The Bank of Petersburg, being a new bank, has not been injured by the pressure.

We are pleased to learn from the Wilmington Journal that there is no ground for the rumor that the Wilmington banks have suspended. The report had reached Raleigh, but we made no reference to it, as it might injure Wilmington.

The Journal says there has been no panic there and that the confidence of the people is not at all impaired. This gratifying news. Wilmington and Raleigh will have a bright future before them after the storm blows over, if they shall continue to maintain their present attitude. And there is no reason why they should not.

EACH issue of Our Living and Our Dead proves the value and necessity of the publication. Col. POOL has taken upon himself a task of the very gravest responsibility, to the discharge of which he is bringing to bear a zeal, impartiality and patriotism that cannot be too highly commended. The last issue, No. 13, contains Gen. BEAUREGARD's official report of the battle of Manassas. An editorial summary relates the part taken in the fight by the North Carolina Regiments. These Regiments were the 5th, the 6th, and the 11th, afterwards the 21st. The name of the chivalrous, the high-toned, the noble Col. FISHER is forever enshrined with the glories that cluster around that celebrated battle-field. CHARLES F. FISHER was among the first martyrs who poured out their hearts' blood as a libation in the cause of Southern liberty. His spotless character and high fame are rich legacies to his children and to his native State.

"If brother Williams will remember, we have all along persistently advocated the building of factories of all kinds in our State, and have repeatedly given the facts and figures to show the handsome profits accruing to those engaged in the enterprise, besides so largely aiding in building up the material interests of our country."

We feel greatly encouraged, too, by the determination of reliable parties to erect a cotton factory nearhere at an early day.

"Go on, brother, and let the whole press of the State join us, until every available stream shall abound with its mills and factories, and North Carolina takes her stand beside her more prosperous sisters."

We remember the excellent articles in the Gazette in advocacy of the establishment of factories in the South. In mentioning the Charlotte Observer and the Greensboro Patriot in the editorial in the RALEIGH News referred to by the Gazette, we did so for the reason that the day our article was written those papers came to hand with editorials on the same subject.

We see that something is likely to grow out of the facts and figures presented by the Charlotte Observer, as the people in that enterprising city are holding meetings and seemed determined to take action in the premises.

The Future of Raleigh.

After the present crisis has passed and all the financial trouble is over, we have reason to believe that the manner in which the capital of North Carolina withstood the shock will greatly augment the trade of the city and open before her a future of unexampled thrift and prosperity.

The fact that every bank in this city not only refused to suspend but actually grew stronger and stronger each day, as the crisis increased in danger and alarm, was due to the policy of the depositors and our citizens generally in standing by their three moneyed institutions as the only hope of sustaining the credit of the city, and preventing the disasters which have fallen upon so many other communities on account of the senseless panics. The spirit of confidence which was all the time felt in the prudence, honesty and good management of our bank officers has grown stronger day after day, as the real condition of the banks became better known to the public. And now, since the financial hurricane seems to have spent its force, it is a matter of sincere congratulation that our banks are on a firmer foundation than ever, for the reason that they have emerged successfully from one of the most trying ordeals to which such institutions can ever be subjected. This gratifying result is due both to the prudent management of the banks themselves and the good judgment and calm feeling which have characterized the depositors.

But it is not alone in the interest of the banks, or in that of the depositors, that we are pleased at our happy issue out of these financial troubles. In the interest of the city of Raleigh and of the surrounding country we especially rejoice, because we feel assured that the result will tend to build up our city, in opening new avenues of trade and inspiring confidence throughout the State in the skill, integrity and prudence of our business men.

The future of Raleigh is to-day more promising than at any period in its past history, by reason of the fact that while other cities have fallen before the tempest, and their leading business men have fallen with them, the capital of North Carolina is serene and unshaken.

WAS CAPTAIN HALL POISONED?—THE MYSTERY OF HIS DEATH NOT YET UNRAVELED.—A New York Herald special, dated London, September 23, says Morton, who personified a rascally Captain Hall, at the moment of his death, makes the statement that Hall returned in perfect health from the journey which preceded his final illness. He was a short time in his cabin when he took some coffee, and immediately afterwards became sick and vomited. Hall said they were poisoning him. Morton evidently believes the same thing. He also suspects the subsequent medical treatment. He has, however, a violent feeling against the doctor, which may color his judgment.

SHOCKING CRIMINALITY.—The St. Louis Republic has an account of a most terrible affair which took place near Kingsburg, Missouri, some days ago. It appears that a young girl, whose name is not given, living near the town named, was discovered by her parents to be enceinte. A few days after the discovery, they took their daughter to a cornfield near the place, and there they buried her alive, and forced from her a living child. They then threw the babe into a shallow hole in the ground and deliberately stamped it to death, so frightfully mangled it that when they completed their heinous work, it was difficult to distinguish the flesh and blood from the mud and clay.—The parents were arrested.

DISTINGUISHED DEPOSITORS IN A SUSPENDED WASHINGTON BANK.—The Washington Post says: It is said that ex-President Andrew Johnson had $60,000 to his credit in the First National Bank, on which he was receiving six per cent. interest. Senator Patterson, of South Carolina, $14,000 in one of the suspended banks; Admiral Rowan, $6,000. Mrs. Wm. H. Scott, widow of a former navy agent, had $17,000; the proceeds of the sale of all the property she had. General Hunter had a handsome credit in Jay Cooke & Co.'s.

M. Rame's trial has been again deferred, fresh evidence having been discovered which it will take some time to sift.

According to the St. Petersburg Gazette, the annual cost of the Russian navy is from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000.

The Troubles of a Fortune-Finder.

A remarkable suit came up before Judge Fancher, a day or two ago, in the Supreme Court, entitled E. D. Whitney against Richard Peniston, which drew a large audience and excited considerable curiosity. According to the complaints, original and amended, Peniston learned unofficially in April last that his ticket in the Royal Haverly Lottery had drawn the $500,000 prize. Ignorant of the modus operandi, he was pursued in order to obtain the money, or whether the prize was collectable, he sought his friend, the plaintiff, and agreed with him that, in consideration of large amounts of money already advanced by Whitney to him, and in pay for services in getting the ticket cashed, he would transfer half his interest to Whitney. The two came on from Philadelphia, where they resided, and put the ticket in the hands of Belmont & Co. for collection. When $250,000 had been paid, Peniston refused to recognize his friend's claim, and the latter came to New York, and, by getting out a writ of attachment through his counsel, Luther L. Marsh, tied up the remainder due Peniston, then in the possession of Belmont & Co., which amounted, less 15 per cent. of the whole for commission due the bankers, to $125,000. The case came up yesterday on a motion by ex-Judge Edwards Pierpont, in behalf of Peniston, to have the attachment discharged on the ground that there was no right to it. The answer denies all the allegations of assistance on the part of Whitney and the agreement to divide. Judge Fancher took the papers.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Richmond Whig discussing the race issue, says: Should that day ever come when race lines shall be obliterated, and when selfish adventurers shall lose control over the colored masses, it will be welcomed as the period of deliverance from the great peril by which Virginia is now menaced. Until then the intelligence and the property interests of the Commonwealth must stand together against the thick array of agrarian ignorance that threatens them.

East St. Louis is a pleasant place for Sunday pastimes. Last Sunday there was a dog fight there, lasting two hours and a quarter, and the whipped dog died in the pit. The betting was spirited, and the crowd large. Then came a wrestling match, and, lastly, a man was playfully thrown from a tree he had climbed to see the show, by some rough, and broke one arm, and the crowd, and three ribs. He will probably die. A pleasant place for a peacemaker man.

Cedar Falls, Iowa, has a set of youths who carve their names on the tombstones in the cemeteries, and provoke the wish on the part of certain individuals that the inscriptions were rightfully made.

A Sand Storm in Colorado.

The Pueblo People of July 24 says: Last Monday two Mexican boys, Jesus Maria and Juan de la Cruz Limbustero, were taking a herd of seven hundred sheep across the sand hills of the "Lomas del Arreno," about twenty-four miles northerly from Fort Garland. These sand hills extend out into the San Luis Valley, about fifteen miles opposite the Mosco pass. The herders undertook to make a "short cut" across the hills instead of going around, as directed by their father. At first everything moved gaily; the boys and sheep and dogs only sank a few inches in the light white sand, and they thought how foolish it was of old fogies to go around twenty miles when it was only four across; but before they got half across one of those sudden storms arose; up came a general breeze, the breeze became a wind, and the wind an awful hurricane; the sand moved about in blinding clouds, hills changed to holes, and every hole was a seething cauldron. The poor boys struggled hard to avert their doom, and Jesus Maria managed, by drawing his scrape over his head and keeping his feet and climbing as the sand piled up around him, to survive the tornado, but his younger brother, Juan de la Cruz, succumbed to the suffocating sand, and as a ship goes down at sea, so sank the brave boy surrounded by his bleating sheep, and whining dogs; and when the storm had ceased, as suddenly as it had commenced, little Jesus found himself all alone, with quiet mounds of glistening sand all around him, and not a trace of the cruel sand storm, nor a sign of the disaster could be seen. He hurried home, where he arrived the next day, and told his tale of terror. The whole plaza turned out to search for the lost body and to dig out the missing sheep. To the succeeding afternoon they had not recovered over four hundred sheep, most of them being found about six feet below the surface; and the natives from neighboring plazas had flocked to the scene, and were busily engaged digging out the sheep, saving the wool, and feeding on mutton.

AUTUMN.

The brown fields forget their bloom,
Lost in a solemn trance;
Golden leaves go to their doom;
Torn by the winds, perchance.

No more budbuds of June
Show on the naked stem;
No more birds, just in tune,
Echo the joy after them.

No more fluttering wings,
Sagging to put to the test,
Whether, among other things,
Home life or travel were best.

Nowhere now may we find
The white-wed's silvery star;
Of the summer's sharp briars.

Yet where we miss the clover
The windfalls lie, ripe and red;
And patient eyes may discover
The summer is sleeping, not dead.

The Balloon of the Future.

Yesterday Professor Wise, his son, and Dr. Parisel, who is stated to have been "chief of the aeronautic service, under the French Commune," at Paris, met Mr. P. T. Barnum by appointment at the Astor House, to give expression to their views as to the possibility of a successful transatlantic balloon trip. Mr. Barnum purposes giving his entire attention to the subject for some time to come, and with that view he starts for Europe to-day, in order to consult with aeronauts in London, Paris, and other places. He seems quite sanguine of success, and says that no amount of trouble or expense will deter him from carrying out his scheme. The balloon which Prof. Wise recommends would cost from $15,000 to $18,000. He would have it made of Chinese silk, and he says that, with a diameter of 80 feet it need not weigh over 2,000 pounds. The upper part of the balloon would be "reinforced" with a muslin covering rendered water-proof. He would not put in more than 150,000 cubic feet of gas, as that would be sufficient to take up about 11,000 pounds. Being asked by Mr. Barnum what was the best time of year for the trip, he said that no month would be as favorable as June or July. Dr. Parisel was then questioned. His plan is to substitute hot air for gas as a buoyant agency; while to lower the balloon he would introduce cool air. He gives the following calculation in figures: 600,000 cubic feet of hot air, giving a lifting power of 18,000 pounds; balloon, netting, and coating, 6,000 pounds; car, stove, provisions, and men, 3,000 pounds; oil, 8,000 pounds; ballast, 1,000 pounds. He said that 5,000 pounds of oil would last thirty days, or longer enough for the trip two and a half times around the earth. Mr. Barnum having remarked that one trip around the earth would be quite enough for him, asked Professor Wise what he thought of Dr. Parisel's plan. Professor Wise said that he knew nothing about hot air balloons; he believed there was something feasible in the plan, but he would not like to engage in it. "What shall I do, asked Mr. Barnum, 'when I find the doctors disagreeing?' "I would undertake," said the Professor, "to make an experiment first," remarked Dr. Parisel. "No," said the great showman, "I want the safest first. I would rather pay $10,000,000 to succeed than $10,000 to fail." Then turning to Professor Wise, he said: "I should like to have you in London. If I cable for you will you come?" "I will," answered the Professor, "but I'd rather balloon it." "Would you be willing," continued Mr. Barnum, "to try it from London here in the spring?" "I would undertake," said the Professor, "to come to the American Continent, but not to North America." Mr. Wise, Jr., here remarked that the air current being from west to east, a trip from England to this country could not be made. In the course of some further conversation, Mr. Barnum remarked: "I'll attend to nothing but ballooning for the next month or two. I am determined to spend my last dollar, and to get the best men." The conference then ended. [New York Times, September 24.]
